

What's New: Covid-19 Form added to SafetyBase

We have just added a "Virus Exposure" form to all editions of SafetyBase. It allows users to record critical details that help in managing the risk remotely throughout this current outbreak. The form behaves just like all other SafetyBase forms. You can send tasks, link to other forms, associate people with the event and attach images and documents. Here are the key data collection fields:

- Whether the worker is in NZ
- Their current remote contact details
- Source of exposure
- Type of exposure (Close or Casual)
- Date of exposure
- Contact with authorities/advice that has been given
- What internal assistance is required
- Symptoms drop list
- Whether a diagnosis has been made
- Self-isolation details
- Capacity for remote work

The form works on mobile devices. So remote reports can be sent by workers who don't have access to a computer.

Note: The form does not itself refer directly to Covid-19. Instead, it refers to "the current virus". This is so it can be used in future epidemics or pandemics, as this is likely to be a health requirement following the crisis.

Existing clients: If you have not asked for your account to be activated for mobile reporting previously, call us on 0800 000 267 or info@safetypro.co.nz We will talk you through the easy set-up. There is no extra charge for this.

Prospective clients: You are more than welcome to check out this form by getting a Trial Account. Click <http://public.safetybase.co.nz/trial-account-safetybase/> for more information.
